LOVE FRAUD

How marriage to a sociopath fulfilled my spiritual plan
By Donna Andersen, author of Lovefraud.com

Love Fraud tells two parallel stories. The first is the outrageous story of Donna Andersen's marriage to a sociopathic con artist, James Montgomery. He took a quarter million dollars from her, cheated with at least six women during a two-and-a-half year marriage, had a child with one of them, and ten days after Andersen left him, married the mother of the child. It was the second time he committed bigamy.

The second story is about Andersen's personal spiritual journey. Seeking to understand why her life was ravaged, Andersen developed an ability to channel spiritual guidance, and learned that her soul planned the entire debacle. The object of the exercise was for her to experience and then release the devastating betrayal, so that she could return to wholeness.

Although Love Fraud is a work of nonfiction, it is written with the lush description, empathetic character development and dramatic tension of a novel. The result is a riveting tale with a satisfying, even inspirational ending.

From Midwest Book Review:

A fine read with intriguing ideas, highly recommended

It may seem like one of the worst relationships ever. "Love Fraud: How Marriage to a Sociopath Fulfilled My Spiritual Plan" tells of author Donna Andersen's unique journey of marriage with who she deems a sociopath lead her to a better and more fulfilling life. Strange in concept, Andersen explains her journey well and reminds readers that even with horrible people, you can emerge successful.

Donna Andersen

About the author

After graduating summa cum laude from Syracuse University with a degree in magazine journalism, Donna Andersen started her career as the first editor of Atlantic City Magazine, then founded Donna Andersen Copywriting Inc. In 2005, Andersen launched Lovefraud.com, a website that teaches people how to recognize and recover from sociopaths. Readers consider it the most helpful source on the Internet for information about sociopaths. Lovefraud has evolved into a healing community for those who have been targeted by these human predators.
